

The Remember Us Project invites you to connect with the memories of individual children who were lost in the Holocaust.

By carrying the name of this specific child, you are helping mend the torn fabric of Jewish history. The life story of the child you are remembering continues through you. The good that you do, when done in this child's name, becomes part of that child's biography as well as part of your own.

I march in memory of...

Abram Levin

Abram was born in 1938. He lived in Svisloch, in the Osipovichi district, in the Mogilev region of Belorussia. His mother's name was Sheina; his father's name was Hirsh. Abram died in the Shoah in Leningrad, Russia in 1943. He was 5 years old.
